

Sammamish Park-and-Ride/228th SE

The Sammamish Park-and-Ride at 228th Southeast improves customer access to transit service by adding 265 new parking stalls with bus loading areas and layover space, bicycle storage facilities and amenities, information kiosks, public art and stormwater treatment facilities. This is one of Sound Transit's first green park-and-ride projects.

Mode

Bus

Highlights

Construction completed: March 2006

Location: Intersection at 228th Avenue Southeast and Issaquah-Pine Lake Road

Budget: $7.7 million

Partners: Sound Transit, City of Sammamish, King County Metro

Consultants & contractors

Final design: David Evans and Associates

Construction management: Lin & Associates

Public art: Stewart Wong

Contractor: Marshbank

Public art

Native American basketry was Stewart Wong's inspiration for his artwork at Sammamish Park-and-Ride.

